- Thank you!
- It is generally difficult to satisfy so many different people with different expectations. I realise London is a specific place to organise an event (prices are high and the value for money not always satisfying).
- I felt there were many missed opportunities, very few opportunities for connecting with each other, share ideas. It seems to me that some targets were more important than actually allowing people to have and share new ideas and perspectives.
- I would like to thank especially Anna and Agne. They were the conductors behind the scene and they were very kind to us.
- I enjoyed walking, the amount of 'useful London time' we wasted yesterday was really excessive. We could have taken public transport and spent the time on sightseeing, I guess. Almost everybody reached the pub so exhausted that people had little energy for socializing. However, I do appreciate the hosts efforts in satisfying everybody. Good choice of the venue (hotel + conference). Thank you!
- Thanks to Maria and Agne for their patience.
